

NEWEST ADDITION to the eDocument System!

The Ohio EPA Emergency Response Program compiles spill incident information that is developed into a report for each incident. Documents from 2009 to 2014 can now be accessed on the Ohio EPA eDocument internet search resource.

Customers can search for Initial Pollution Incident Report (IPIR) documents by searching under the document type category listed as "Incident Report." In addition, the corresponding District Office Investigation Report (DOIR) document, which can be found under the document type "Investigation Report" can be attained online. It should be noted that only IPIR documents that have a corresponding DOIR document are available in the system. If a DOIR was not completed to correspond with an IPIR report, a records request will still need to be made to obtain an IPIR document. Also, any supporting documents needed for the DOIR will require a public records request. Ohio EPA is also working on a process to add the 2015 spill incident reports in the near future. In the meantime, they can also be obtained through a public records request.
